Presbyterian College Baccalaureate Sermon To Be Delivered Sunday Morning By Atlanta Minister. Major Manning To Address Graduates Monday. Sixty-One In Senior Class.

The fifty-seventh annual commencement exercises of Presbyterian college will be inaugurated next Sunday morning at 11:15 when the baccalaureate sermon will be preached by the Rev. William V. Gardner, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Atlanta, Ga. The service will be held in the First Presbyterian church, and following a long established custom, the morning worship in the churches of the city will be withdrawn in order that the community may unite in this special occasion.

At eight o'clock Sunday evening the sermon before the Young Men's Christian association will be delivered by the Rev. John Bright, of Durham, N. C., a graduate of the college.

The graduating program proper will be given Monday morning, May 31, at 10:30, with the academic procession marching to the Leroy Springs gymnasium where the exercises will be held. President W. P. Jacobs will preside over the exercises, and Rev. H. W. DuBose, D. D., of Spartanburg, chairman of the board of trustees, will present diplomas to the members of the graduating class. Class honors for the year will be announced by Dean Marshall W. Brown. The valedictory address will be given by Stuart Campbell of Wytheville, Va., and the salutatory address by Joseph Patrick of Covington, Ga.

The principal address to the graduating class will be delivered by Major Wyndham Manning of Sumter, a former candidate for governor in this state, and one of its widely-known and prominent citizens.

The faculty and board of trustees at this time will confer the honorary degree of doctor of laws upon Henry Smith Richardson; the honorary degree of doctor of literature upon the Rev. Charles Haddon Nabers, and the honorary degree of doctor of divinity upon the Rev. William V. Gardner.

Mr. Richardson is president of the Vicks Chemical corporation and a member of the board of trustees of Davidson college.

Dr. Nabers is pastor of the First (Continued on page two)

DR. FEWELL WINS ALUMNI AWARD

Philadelphia Specialist Is Selected For Award of Gold "P" of Alumni Association.

Alexander Garrison Fewell, M.D., of Philadelphia, has been awarded the gold "Alumnus P" for this year, according to an announcement from the Alumni association today. The gold "Alumnus P" is awarded annually to an outstanding "alumnus of the year." The one who is given this award is chosen by a committee from the Alumni association. The winner is eligible to receive the award only one year.

Dr. Fewell graduated from Presbyterian college in 1903 with the degree of bachelor of arts. He received his degree of doctor of medicine from the University of Pennsylvania. He is an eye, ear and throat specialist in Philadelphia where he has been practicing for some time. He is also assistant professor in ophthalmology of the graduate school of medicine of the University of Pennsylvania. He is ophthalmologist of the Episcopal and the Children's hospitals in Philadelphia.

A LETTER THAT'S A BETTER EDITORIAL THAN WE COULD WRITE

Hokuchin, Korea.,
April 27, 1937.

Mr. Turk Osman, Alumni Sec.,
Clinton, S. C.

My Dear Mr. Osman:

I am enclosing my check for $10.00 for two years' due to the Alumni Association. I have received two issues of The Alumlite and hope you will keep them coming to me. I didn't know we had such a nice little paper—or one at all—until one was handed to me last summer in a railroad station in Florence, Italy. I learned more about dear old P. C. from that little pamphlet in the following two hours than I had known for 20 years. So you can judge how anxious I am to receive every copy.

It is impossible for me to express my love for P. C. I have certainly not done it by any active support of it in the years since I left its portals. I have lived far away from its vicinity, but the love that I have for everything associated with her is as deep as anything in my being.

With every good wish for the continued onward march of our college.

Yours very sincerely,
E. L. POWER, 1903-08.

GUERARD AT UNION THEO

Allen Guerard, '36, is studying hard at Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Va., and reports that there's no news other than that.

COMPTON AT CALHOUN FALLS

Dick Compton, '36, reports that he's teaching at Calhoun Falls. He's giving the kids English, history and math, and according to his card, "not making much but living pretty well." He has received a Duke scholarship for summer school and an appointment to Parker System Schools in Greenville teaching social sciences. Dick's been over to P. C. several times this year.

WYSOR COMPLETES EIGHTH YEAR HERE AS COMMANDING OFFICER

Leaves P. C. With Excellent Military Record.

PLANS TO MAKE HIS HOME IN CLINTON

With the closing of this school year, Major Robert E. Wysoor finishes an eight-year term as commandant and professor of military science and tactics here at Presbyterian college. Throughout his stay here, Major Wysoor has distinguished himself in the training and character-building of young men in the military organization. He is the man who is largely responsible for the excellent record of the institution's unit and who has done much to make P. C. one of the best non-R. O. T. C. schools in the South. Much credit is due him and everyone here regrets to see him leave. We wish him the best of everything, no matter what field of service he enters.

Having been stationed at many military posts all over the country, Major Wysoor's brilliant and diversified career has taken him outside the United States on two occasions. "P. C. is the best of all, however," the Major declares. "Duty here is the most pleasant to which I have ever been assigned. I have never seen a more cooperative and loyal body of men than P. C. men, not excepting my own alma mater, V. M. I."

Serving an unusually long term, Major Wysoor has been here as professor of military science and tactics since 1929. He is a native of Virginia having attended Virginia Military Institute. After graduation from that institution, he worked for two years with the DuPont Powder company. Then came the war. The Major was immediately called to the training camp at Chickamauga Park, Ga. After a brief period there, he was ordered to Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where he completed his preparatory work. From this point he was ordered to France, entering the war as a second lieutenant of infantry. He was almost immediately promoted to first lieutenant, and came out of the war as a captain.

Arriving home after distinguished and meritorious service, Captain (now Major) Wysoor was ordered to Atlanta where he served at two military posts, Fort McPherson and Camp Gordon. After being stationed there for a time, he was moved to Camp Jackson in Washington, D. C. He was later transferred to North Carolina State where he was in charge of the R.O.T.C. unit.

Then came a prolonged period at Fort Benning, Ga., the largest infantry school in the world, through which all of Uncle Sam's officers must go and receive practical and theoretical instruction. From Fort Benning, Major went into the "foreign service," being stationed at various military posts in Central America until 1929.

In the summer of 1929, he was ordered to report to Fort Knox, Kentucky. En route to his destination, he received a change in order which instructed him to take over the military department at Presbyterian college in Clinton, S. C. At that time, he did not even know where Clinton was, but managed to find it and settled down to a long and successful stay.

Two years ago he was promoted from captain to major.

Major Wysoor has been at P. C. longer than at any other place, including his childhood home, and he plans to make Clinton his permanent home after a three months leave of absence and vacation. Many will be happy to find that he plans to return to Clinton as he is a definite asset to the community and his presence has meant much to all of us.

On May 17 he will make his will receive his "Wings" on June 9, graduation flight from Kelly Field according to information received from Captain W. G. Bryte, Jr., of Kelly Field. Freeman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Freeman, 15 Cleveland street, Clinton.

He attended Presbyterian college 1933-36. He has had three years of R.O.T.C., infantry, and three years National Guard (coast artillery).

He specialized in attack aviation at the air corps advanced flying school at Kelly Field and has almost completed his course there. Upon graduation he will receive the rating of airplane pilot. On June 30 he will receive his reserve commission as a While here Freeman was one of the outstanding men on the campus. During his junior year he was cadet sergeant major. Last spring he passed his entrance examination for the flying school. He immediately left for Kelly Field where he has been in training since.

Colleagues In Philadelphia Hold Eminent Specialist In High Regard.

The alumni file on him simply reads: Fewell, Alexander Garrison (entered from Rock Hill), attended Presbyterian college, 1900-03. But here's what some of his associates have written Alumni President Louis Jackson about him:

E. S. Thorps, Jr., M. D., Assistant to the Dean of the School of Medicine of the University of Pennsylvania:

"We are delighted that the Alumni Association of Presbyterian College, Clinton, S. C., is considering our colleague, Dr. A. G. Fewell, for the annual Alumni Award.

"Dr. Fewell is one of the most distinguished ophthalmologists of this city. He is the Associate Professor of Ophthalmology in this medical school and he is associate head of our clinic. In addition, he is the Chief of Clinic at a number of hospitals in this city. For many, many years he was associated with Dr. George de Schweinitz, as his office assistant. His training and experience, therefore, cannot be questioned in view of the training which he must have received from the Nestor of American Ophthalmology.

"... All of Dr. Fewell's colleagues here at the University of Pennsylvania and in Philadelphia would be deeply gratified if he is honored in this way by his college."

William G. Turnbull, M. D., Superintendent Philadelphia General Hospital:

"I am sorry to say that Dr. Alexander Garrison Fewell has never been on the staff of the Philadelphia General Hospital. I say sorry, because Dr. Fewell is an outstanding ophthalmologist in Philadelphia.

"He has been connected with the University of Pennsylvania and with the University Hospital for many years. I understand that after the recent death of Dr. Holloway, Professor of Ophthalmology, Dr. Fewell was one of the two men whom the choice of Professor was finally made. An Attempt To Keep Alumni Informed of Doings At Their Alma Mater

ACADEMIC

Dr. Whitelaw To Have Unusual Teaching Task.

"Now if I had a college, I—" and so forth, this from some careless barrel as he lounges in his unkempt suite. We all have heard such utterances from our friends and room-mates. This purports to tell the outcome of the resolve of one of our own professors—which was to take an active step in the advancement of his own particular idea of what a school should be like, at any rate, summer school.

Having got wind of aforementioned plan, your roving newsman dove out of sight one day last week to beard Professor Whitelaw in his cavern of physics and emerged with quite a new angle on the best way to have one's summer vacation and study too. Finding the good doctor in an almost garrulous mood, ventured to inquire what mode of life was this that practically permitted the student to have his cake and eat it too.

In the midst of whaling the daylight out of an innocent lab examination that had been weak all along, he paused that he might tell of this new and interesting mode of absorbing facts in their various states of dryness. There is a concern called University tours that takes professors from small colleges and lets them administer the daily portion of their particular subject as the students hang out their linen after a pleasant sleep in Yellowstone Park (cabin) or Carlsbad, N. M. (tents). The object is to provide a complete accommodation of the students, even down to the cafeteria trucks that furnish food at stated intervals during the day.

The education is only an adjunct to the affair of seeing America first, and there are very few of the scenic wonders of the West that are not included in this tour. The study part comes in the morning from seven to nine, the coaches then travel eight hours toward somewhere, and a camp is made for the night. Dr. Whitelaw plans to teach astronomy as his part of the study courses offered, and of course the open sky at night after the group has made camp for the night will be the lab period.

As there are usually about seventy per cent, women and the rest men on these trips, one might wonder if the gents aren't swamped with feminine attentions. Apparently this is not so, because this particular company has been going for six years now, and the demand is in no wise abating. There is every evidence that Dr. Whitelaw will have a most pleasant and "instructing" summer ahead of him. Maybe some of our lads who haunt the beaches to no avail had better get on one of these tours where the competition is not so overdone.

Plans Made For Summer School

Presbyterian college summer school, scheduled to run from June 7 to July 16, is arousing an unusual amount of interest this year. Dr. S. M. Huntley, director, also stated that there have been a larger number of requests for information from outside the college than in any previous year. Also, a large number of students are expected to attend.

The summer session enables students to make up back work, to take advanced or special courses, or to take work preparatory to study for a master's degree. One can complete a year's work in one subject or two one-semester courses with a total credit of not more than six semester hours.

All the classes will be held in the science hall except the commercial, which will be held in the gymnasium. The dining hall and the dormitories will not be kept open during the summer, but students may make individual boarding arrangements in town.

The price for any two courses of three semester hours each is $15.00. A student will not be permitted to take more than two courses for credit. However, one can take additional non-credit commercial courses in shorthand and typing for $7.50 per course.

There will be three class periods each day for five days a week. The class periods are from 8:30 to 10, from 10 to 11:30, and from 11:30 to 1:00. There will be no afternoon or Saturday classes.

Dr. S. M. Huntley, director of the summer school and professor of elementary French, is president of the Association of Modern Language Teachers in South Carolina for the coming year. He succeeds Dr. Stephan of the University of South Carolina. This is the second time Dr. Huntley has been president of the association, his first term being in 1933-34.

A tentative list of the courses and instructors is as follows: Two classes of elementary French will be under the direction of Dr. Huntley. Dr. M. G. Woodworth will teach American literature and freshman English. Dr. A. E. Spencer will have two sections of advanced French. Professor Bothwell Graham will have two sections of advanced Spanish, and if desired, two of elementary German. Professor W. E. Monts will have two courses in education, and Professor H. E. Sturgeon will conduct classes in algebra and trigonometry. If there is sufficient demand, Dr. H. E. Spencer will give a course in mathematics of finance, and Professor Holman a course on the short story.

Professor Baker, of the commerce department, will offer three courses: advanced shorthand, beginners' typing, and a course of insurance, accounting, business organization, or beginners' shorthand depending upon the demand.

MILITARY

Unit Rated 'Excellent' In Annual Inspection

The official report from the Fourth Corps area headquarters on the recent government inspection of the military corps at Presbyterian college rated the battalion as "excellent." Major F. C. Harding, assistant professor of military science and tactics told a reporter of The Blue Stocking today.

Although this rating was indicated by the inspecting officer at the annual inspection, it required this "official" report from headquarters to confirm it. This entitles the military corps here to wear the blue star indicating such a degree of proficiency. The P. C. battalion has enjoyed this distinction for a number of years.

The military department also announces that Allen McSweeney, a cadet in the junior class last year who was unable to attend the summer camp at Fort McClellan last summer, will go with this year's junior class. The same ruling which permits sophomores, who have not been selected, to serve in the advanced corps without pay, allows McSweeney to do the same thing, and entitles him to receive a commission as a second lieutenant of reserves.

Major Harding said that official acceptance of this year's advanced corps would not be received until some time after the college closes, but that notification of such acceptance would be mailed to the appointees in August. Major Harding further announced that no notification had been made to the military department as to whom the new assistant professor of military science and tactics would be.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AT P. C.

Tribute Paid Major Wysor

The students of Presbyterian college joined in a unique convocation on Tuesday night as they paid tribute to Major R. E. Wysor, Jr., Professor of Military Science and Tactics at Presbyterian college for the past eight years, and who will be returned to active army duty at the close of this school year.

During the eight years that Major Wysor has been at Presbyterian college the R. O. T. C. unit has received a rating of excellent on every annual army inspection. At the junior training camp at Camp McClellan, Anniston, Ala., his charges have received the general proficiency cup four out of the seven times that he has sent groups to the camp. Twice more they have received the highest ratings at the camp on professional knowledge and discipline.

In the impressive ceremonies carried out in his honor, the entire military unit gave a moonlight dress parade, and fired a salute in his honor. Following the parade the student body and many visitors from the town moved to the college chapel where Huieff Paul, representing the freshman class, William McSween, representing the sophomore class, Asby Johnson, representing the junior class and James Collings, representing the senior class, made brief speeches of appreciation and admiration for their retiring officer.

William P. Jacobs, president of the college, then gave an address praising the excellent work of Major Wysor in training leaders and performing well all duties placed upon him.

Dr. Rufus Sadler, representing the Rotary club of the town, presented Major Wysor with a sterling silver dish as a token of the club's esteem. Dean Marshall W. Brown presented for the college a set of sterling silver fruit juice cups as a token of the admiration held for the Major by the faculty of the college. George S. Beatty, a student representing the junior military class, presented him with a leather golf bag as a token of their admiration.

Major Wysor made a brief and touching reply to the ceremonies and then the audience was entertained by music by the Presbyterian college band.

Wandell Williams, president of the Presbyterian college Y. M. C. A., presided.

RELIGIOUS

Keller Honored At Banquet

At its annual Senior Farewell Banquet, the Ministerial club of Presbyterian college last week honored its only senior member, Chester Keller, of Greenville, and announced its officers for the coming year.

Chosen as president of the club was Merle Patterson of Moultrie, Ga. The vice-president selected was Hubert Farldaw of Marietta, Ga., while Virgil St. John of Charlotte Court House, Va., was elected secretary-treasurer.

President William P. Jacobs of the college gave a brief address congratulating the club and laying the challenge of Christian leadership on the campus before it.

Retiring president, Cliff Hill McLeod of Ocala, Fla., presided.

Keller To Receive Leadership Medal

W. Chester Keller, senior of Greenville, will be awarded the Ministerial club Christian leadership medal at commencement on May 31, a medal given annually by the club to that member of the group who shall have been the most outstanding during the previous two years on Presbyterian college's campus, according to an announcement from President Buck Patterson today.

The winner of the award is chosen on the basis of his scholarship in school, participation in extra-curricular activities, participation in religious activities, and by the amount of leadership ability he has shown on the campus.

Keller, past president of the Y. M. C. A., is a Blue Key member, and this year winner of the gold "P."

ORGANIZATIONS

Joyce Pitts Heads Sorority

Miss Joyce Pitts of Clinton, was recently elected president of Alpha Psi Delta, Presbyterian college sorority, for the year 1937-38.

Miss Verna McLeod of Ocala, Fla., was chosen vice-president and Miss Laetitia Jones of Clinton, secretary-treasurer at the same time.

Miss Pitts is a member of the junior class and is on the Blue Stocking staff. Miss McLeod is a member of the sophomore class and is also on the Blue Stocking staff. Miss Jones is also a member of the sophomore class.

Dramatic Club Elects Officers

At its last meeting of the year last week the Dramatic club elected Robert Black, rising junior of York, as its president for next year. Moffet Wylie, rising junior of Clover, was elected vice-president, while George Beatty, rising senior was chosen as secretary-treasurer.

Black succeeds Eldred F. MacLeod, of Bennettsville, who has been president during the past year.

The Dramatic club has completed a successful year, and President Black stated he would try to continue the work of the club next year.

EQUIPMENT

Collection Of Oil Paintings For Lab

A new series of optical history paintings has just been received from the Bausch and Lomb Optical Co., Rochester, N. Y., which commissioned the distinguished New York artist, Harold Anderson, to reproduce on canvas such scientific characters in history as Alhazen, the Moor; the Dutchman, Huygens; and the Bavarian, Fraunhofer.

According to Dr. H. S. Fish, of the biology department, who obtained these reproductions, they will be hung in the laboratory for the inspiration of science students although the subjects are suitable for any classroom or library.

Richly colored, the picture of Alhazen, who was born 965 A. D., shows this Arabian mathematician demonstrating to some friends his theory of the refraction of light by means of a stick thrust into a pool of water.

No less interesting is that of Christian Huygens, in which the Dutch astronomer and physicist explains to Louis XIV and members of the French Academy his wave theory of light.

Fraunhofer is represented as an enthusiastic young man explaining to a skeptical friend his method of reading and measuring the dark lines of the spectrum by means of the spectroscopic, an instrument of his invention.

Williams, Lambright Win Speakers Meets

The student body was entertained in chapel on Tuesday morning by four contestants in the campus oratorical contest.

The participants were: Wandell Williams, who chose as his topic, "Education versus Regimentation"; D. W. Davis, "Blind America"; "Chester Keller, "Generations"; Hubert Wardlaw, "Sanguine Parasites."

Williams was given the decision of the judges and received the ten-dollar first prize. D. W. Davis was awarded five dollars for second place. All four men received at least one vote for first place, and all but one were mentioned for second, third and fourth places.

Wednesday the students in the declamation contest presented their speeches before the student body.

Dugald Hudson spoke on "The Radio In Our Republic"; Milton Norton, "Safeguarding Our American Principles"; Ed Lambright, "Stars and Stripes"; Roy Hutchinson, "The Pioneer of Peace."

Lambright was winner of first prize, and Norton second.

These contests are held each year in an attempt to increase speaking and leadership ability on the campus.

OFFICES AND HONORS

Commander Elected To Blue Key

Joe Commander, of Florence, was recently elected to membership in the Presbyterian college chapter of Blue Key, national honorary fraternity.

Mr. Commander, a rising senior, is president of the student body and the Student Council of the college. He is a member of Pi Kappa Phi, social fraternity, a member of the varsity baseball team, a member of the Block "P" club, on the cabinet of the Y. M. C. A., and a platoon sergeant in the R. O. T. C. unit.

Ritch To Lead '37-'38 Juniors

Morris Ritch of Charlotte, N. C., was elected president of the junior class at Presbyterian college for the school year of 1937-38 in a recent series of class elections. He defeated C. B. Holcombe in a second race to gain the position.

G. G. Batchelor of Eatonton, Ga., was elected vice-president of the class. L. G. Heckle of Fort Valley, Ga., secretary-treasurer, Lewis Norwood of Milledgeville, Ga., historian, and C. D. Jacobs of Kingstree, poet in the same elections.

ATHLETICS

Osman To Run In Meet At Atlanta

John E. "Turk" Osman, one of the greatest track men that South Carolina has ever seen and now field secretary for his alma mater, Presbyterian college, will attempt to stage a running comeback in the Southeastern A. A. U. track and field meet to be held on Grant field at Georgia Tech in Atlanta on Saturday, May 29. He plans to enter the 880-yard run.

During the four-year period of his college career, ending in 1933, "Turk" was considered one of the best middle distance runners in college circles in the South. He won the Southeastern division of the Olympic preliminaries in the 880 in 1932, but the sudden illness of his mother prevented his entering the Eastern division.

Running as anchor man on Presbyterian college's relay teams during his college career, he helped set the Southeastern A. A. U. mile relay record. In 1933 P. C. sent its relay squad to the Penn relays. Osman as anchor man took the baton with most of the field ahead of him and galloped to track fame as he passed man after man to give his team second place.

Another of his outstanding feats was winning the 440, 880 and mile in (Continued from page five)

a single afternoon in the South Carolina Intercollegiate track and field meet in 1933. He was then voted the most valuable track man in the state.

Osman will run the Southeastern A. A. U. half mile in a pair of track trunks in which he has been running since 1928. He is extremely superstitious about these trunks and will run in no others and will not permit them to be washed.

Dormitory Team Takes Tourney

In a "battle of dormitories," the Smyth-Laurens team whipped a composite group representing Alumni and Spencer to take the annual intramural baseball crown in an 18-5 triumph.

The victorious nine polished off Beta Kappa, 10-7, and Pi Kappa Phi, 13-3, to reach the finals, while Alumni-Spencer beat Kappa Alpha and Pi Kappa Alpha. Hollis' pitching and an even distribution of battling power gave the Smyth-Laurens outfit the decision. A double play, from Weathers to Majors to St. John, and St. John's batting featured the contest.

Alpha Lambda Tau, last year's champions, were upset, 8 to 7, in the opening round by the Pi Kappa Alpha frat, which in turn lost to the dormitory bunch. Kappa Alpha, runner-up last year, also was eliminated in the opening round.

Dinner To Honor P. C. Champions

The Clinton Lions club will foster a public meeting the latter part of this week to honor the Presbyterian college championship baseball team and their coach, Chick Galloway. The team finished its schedule with a victory over Clemson which clinched the state flag after a most successful season. The Lions club is endeavoring to secure an outstanding baseball figure to attend the meeting as the guest speaker.

Gray Wins Campus Championship

Taylor Martin, assistant tennis coach and director of Presbyterian College Intramural Tennis Tournament, recently awarded rackets to the winners of the tournament, Harris Gray, winner of the men's singles, and Edith Henderson, winner of the women's singles.

This tournament which had 128 entrants was divided into two sections, men's including college students, high school boys and towns people, and women's including college co-eds, high school girls, and towns women.

Harris Gray, a rising senior from Greenwood, Miss., was winner of the men's tournament, defeating John Woodward, a student from Vienna, Ga., for the honor.

Miss Henderson is a student of Clinton high school.

Awarded as trophies to the winners were two autographed rackets left Ryn and his wife, Midge Van Ryn, here for the purpose by Johnnie Van gave exhibition matches at Presby when the nationally famous players rian college's tennis clinic last fall.

Clemson Tigers Win State Track Meet

Clemson's powerful trackmen rolled up a 46-point scoring total to take top honors in the daddy of cinder shows, the state meet, as they extended their period of supremacy to four years in the competition held under the lights of Johnson field early in May.

The scoring gap between the two leading teams was narrowed to a single point when the Tiger outfit was disqualified for a technicality after winning the mile relay, last event on the program. Results of the relay boosted Carolina's score to 45, enabled The Citadel to place third with 21 points, and put Little three-fourths of a point ahead of Clemson's Carter in individual scoring.

Other teams finished in the following order: Presbyterian 19, Furman 18, Wofford 12, Erskine 2, Newberry 0.

It was Little who led Carolina's team in a sensational rally that barely fell short of stopping the mighty Tigers. He won high scoring honors with 15½ points when his team finished second in the relay, and the fraction of a point in this event put him ahead of Carter, who had won the high jump and both hurdles.

Bob King, versatile Furman star, set the only new record recorded as he hurled the discus 142 feet, 6 inches to better his own record of 140 11¼ inches set last year. He also won the shot put to give the Baptist school its only other first place.

Approximately two thousand persons witnessed the colorful spectacle, which was preceded by a parade review of teams and concluded with the presentation of team and individual trophies by William P. Jacobs, Presbyterian college president.

Carolina Takes Frosh State Meet

South Carolina's first-year outfit went to town in the dashes, discus and pole vault to pile up 50 points and capture first place in the annual state freshman track meet on Johnson field Friday afternoon. Clemson's Cubs came second with 41, Citadel third with 23, and P. C.'s Baby Hose trailed fourth with 21.

Murphy of Citadel topped individual scorers with 15 points garnered from firsts in the javelin, broad and high jumps, and Lambert of Newberry pressed him hard with 14—all of Newberry's points.

In winning, the Carolina Biddies annexed the 100, 220 and 440 dashes, high hurdles, pole vault, discus and mile relay. Rawls of P. C. set a new state record in the mile and also took first in the 880. Buchan led the field in the two-mile in another top-notch P. C. performance.

Blackwell To Captain 1938 Nine

William Blackwell, first baseman on Presbyterian college's championship baseball team, was selected by his team mates to captain the 1938 edition of Chick Galloway's pastimers.

"Blackie" is a rising senior and for three years has played ball for the Blue Hose. A stellar first baseman, his outstanding attributes as a player are more than snagging the swift pitches to first plate and hitting the ball, for he is a dynamic force on the squad, always bubbling over with spirit and never ready to say "die."

In 1938 he will lead a baseball team defending a championship without the aid of pitchers Suggs and Weldon, short stop Harvin, and hard-hitting right fielder Evans.

Blackwell is a member of Alpha Lambda Tau fraternity and a lieutenant in R.O.T.C. ratings.

To Get Degree

MARSHALL W. BROWN

Brown To Receive Davidson Degree

Dean Marshall W. Brown will be awarded the honorary degree of doctor of pedagogy by the faculty and board of trustees of Davidson college at its regular commencement exercises on Tuesday, June 8, according to an announcement made yesterday in The Davidsonian.

On Monday, June 7, Dean Brown will represent Presbyterian college at the Davidson centennial program.

On Tuesday, at 10:30, the regular commencement exercises of the college will take place and at that time Dean Brown will receive his doctor's degree.

Mr. Brown was an honor graduate of Castle Heights Military academy. He did undergraduate study at the University of Missouri and at the summer session of the University of Michigan, and attended Centre college the last two years of his undergraduate career, receiving the degree of bachelor of arts from that college in 1921.

He did postgraduate work in history at the University of Vienna in 1922 and 1923, and received his master of arts degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1923.

At Centre he was a member of Beta Theta Pi, social fraternity; Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership fraternity, and Ye Rounde Table, Centre college scholarstic fraternity to which only the upper ten per cent of the students are elected.

He was head of the history department of McCallie school in 1921-22 and from 1923-25. He has been professor of history at Presbyterian college since 1925 and dean of the college since 1928.

PITCHING OF SUGGS, AND HITTING OF EVANS, FOLLEY, BATCHELOR HIGHLIGHTS OF BASEBALL YEAR

A statistical summary of the 1937 seasons reveals that Presbyterian college's state championship baseball team rode to league supremacy largely on the skilled pitching of John "Lefty" Suggs and the hitting of left fielder "Hawk" Evans, right fielder Louis Folley, and sophomore third baseman Giles Batchelor.

The Hosemen stepped to the plate officially 495 times and garnered 139 hits. They converted these hits into 87 runs, 79 of which were earned.

Pitching sensation was Suggs, who won seven out of his eight league games, allowed but 18 runs, only 16 of which were earned, pitched 72 innings, giving up 48 hits and striking out 46 batters.

Coon Weldon, while winning only one of his four games, turned in the enviable record of striking out 54 men in 38 innings of pitching.

Louis Folley, right fielder who joined the team as a regular moving from the bench near the middle of the season, proved himself to be a man who hit in the pinches. He garnered only eight hits and two runs out of 28 trips to the plate, but he batted in 13 runs to tie with "Hawk" Evans for honors. Giles Batchelor was third in runs batted in with 11.
